

The Cono-Sur Congregation, a branch of the Benedictine Confederation, comprises ten male and eight female monasteries in the Southern Cone region of South America. Founded in 1976, the Congregation's headquarters are at the Monasterio Benedictino Santa María in Los Toldos, Argentina, where the Abbot President resides. ■

== List of member houses and dependencies ==

The Cono-Sur Congregation, part of the Benedictine Confederation, unites 18 monasteries (10 male, 8 female) across four South American nations in the Southern Cone. Established in 1976, the Congregation is headquartered at the Monasterio Benedictino Santa María in Los Toldos, Argentina, where the Abbot President is based. ■

=== Male ===

The Cono-Sur Congregation, established in 1976 as part of the Benedictine Confederation, brings together 10 male monasteries in four South American nations (Argentina, Chile, Uruguay, and Paraguay) and eight female monasteries. The Abbot President resides at the Monasterio Benedictino Santa María in Los Toldos, Argentina. The Congregation's monasteries include: Abadía del Niño Dios, Monasterio de la Pascua, Monasterio San Benito de Llú Llú, Abadía de Cristo Rey, Abadía Santa María de Los Toldos, Monasterio Benedictino, Tupäsy María, Abadía de San Benito, Padres Benedictinos, Monasterio de Ntra. Sra. de la Paz, and Abadía de la Sma. Trinidad de Las Condes. ■

=== Female ===

The Cono-Sur Congregation, a group of Benedictine monasteries established in 1976, encompasses 10 male monasteries spread across Argentina, Chile, Uruguay, and Paraguay, as well as 8 female monasteries. The Abbot President resides at the Monasterio Benedictino Santa María in Los Toldos, Argentina. These monasteries include: Abadía del Niño Dios, Monasterio de la Pascua, Monasterio San Benito de Llú Llú, Abadía de Cristo Rey, Abadía Santa María de Los Toldos, Monasterio Benedictino, Tupäsy María, Abadía de San Benito, Padres Benedictinos, Monasterio de Ntra. Sra. de la Paz, Abadía de la Sma. Trinidad de Las Condes, Monasterio Nuestra Señora del Paraná, Abadía Nuestra Señora de la Esperanza, Abadía Gaudium Mariae, Monasterio Nuestra Señora de la Fidelidad, Abadía de Santa Escolástica, Priorato Santa María de Rautén, Monasterio de la Asunción de Santa María Virgen, and Monasterio S. María Madre de la Iglesia. ■

== See also ==

The Cono-Sur Congregation, a group of monasteries within the Benedictine

Confederation, was established in 1976. It comprises 10 male monasteries in Argentina, Chile, Uruguay, and Paraguay, as well as 8 female monasteries. The Abbot President of the Congregation resides at the Monasterio Benedictino Santa María in Los Toldos, Argentina. These monasteries include: Abadía del Niño Dios, Monasterio de la Pascua, Monasterio San Benito de Llú Llú, Abadía de Cristo Rey, Abadía Santa María de Los Toldos, Monasterio Benedictino, Tupäsy María, Abadía de San Benito, Padres Benedictinos, Monasterio de Ntra. Sra. de la Paz, Abadía de la Sma. Trinidad de Las Condes, Monasterio Nuestra Señora del Paraná, Abadía Nuestra Señora de la Esperanza, Abadía Gaudium Mariae, Monasterio Nuestra Señora de la Fidelidad, Abadía de Santa Escolástica, Priorato Santa María de Rautén, Monasterio de la Asunción de Santa María Virgen, and Monasterio S. María Madre de la Iglesia. All of these monasteries adhere to the Rule of Saint Benedict and are part of the larger Benedictine Confederation. ■

== References ==